PENNSYLVANIAN DISPELS RUMORS OF INACTION AND WILL ASK FOR VOTE.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—So that war conditions may not be prolonged should the peace treaty fail of ratification or its approval be greatly delayed, opponents of the League of Nations presented in the Senate today a proposal to declare a state of peace with Germany and Austria-Hungary.

The declaration was introduced both as an amendment to the pending arms bill and as a separate joint resolution by Senator Fall of New Mexico, a distinguished member of the foreign relations committee. The amendment is expected to come up tomorrow and should it fail the resolution probably will be called up for action Wednesday.

WORD RETURN TROOPS.

Both in his amendment and in his resolution, Senator Fall proposes that the president be directed to secure the immediate return of all military and naval forces now abroad as duty connected with the war. In addition, the amendment would provide that none of the money appropriated by the army bill could be used for the maintenance of forces in foreign soil except as required for peace conditions. A joint resolution similar to that presented by Mr. Fall was introduced by Senator Edge, republican, of New Jersey.

It was considered quite probable tonight that the amendment would be rejected on a point of order and that the league opponents would line up generally behind the Fall resolution, which would require action by both senate and house, but whether the president's signature also would be necessary, is an disputed question.

KNOX WANTS VOTE.

Injection of the peace declaration into the treaty fight came after promise of a protracted calm which had been dispelled by announcement of Senator Knox, a republican, of Pennsylvania, that he intended to press for action as soon as the appropriation bill were passed on; his resolution against accepting the league covenant as now interwoven with the peace terms.

This announcement surprised many senators on both sides of the controversy and promptly was met by predictions from league supporters that the Knox resolution never would be referred to the Senate in this quarter. It was suggested that if it were to come before the Senate it would be altered in several details by its friends, since one of its objects as it now stands is to secure a change in the peace treaty to provide for separate action on the league. The league opponents may, however, insist upon its adoption.

LET'S KEEP THE HOME IN LAUGHINGLAND.

Let's keep our home in Laughingland,

Where tyranny gives no command,

Let's keep all hate and greed away,

Let's keep the roads safe to play,

Let's keep the peace of love around,

Let's not burden it with care,

Let's shiver, moan, trouble there,

But let's have fun, we're free, fast,

Become a symbol of our best,

Let's keep our dwelling commerce proof,

Let's hold the door and bar the gate

To sellish strife and bitter hate,

And when the evening settles down,

Let's leave our worries in the town,

Let's go to bed, and dream of joys,

And dropping lamps and stars, etc.

Let's cross words, let us be fair,

Let's wait to greet us there,

Let's bind the heart and make it numb,

Let's keep our home in Laughingland,

With a smile, a hand, a hand,

Let's go forth from here to day

To strive for fortune as we may,

Sustained by this triumphant thought,

That when at night the light is fought

At dawn we'll wait to greet us there,

Let's bind the heart and make it numb,

Let's keep our home in Laughingland,

With a smile, a hand, a hand,

Let's go forth from here to day

To strive for fortune as we may,

Sustained by this triumphant thought,

That when at night the light is fought

At dawn we'll wait to greet us there,

Let's bind the heart and make it numb,

Let's keep our home in Laughingland,

With a smile, a hand, a hand,
